

fedena[®]

SCHOOL MANAGEMENT
SOFTWARE & SYSTEM

A quick guide on How to choose the right School Management Solution

What does your institution need in a school management solution?

A GUIDE TO THE GENERATIONS

Contents

1. An Intro to School Management Solution
2. Why do educational institutions need a school management solution?
3. Factors affect the selection of School Management Solution
4. Whom does a school management solution benefit and how?
5. Why choose Fedena for your education institution?

What is a school management solution?

A school management solution is a tool or a platform that is built especially for educational institutions like colleges and schools. This technological tool essentially helps schools manage their day to day and long term processes in a more efficient fashion.

Processes that are predictable and recurring are especially suitable for a school management solution. Such processes would include functions such as payroll, attendance, admissions, examination administration, course scheduling and a variety of other functions.

Why do educational institutions need a school management solution?

Thanks to the advent of technology and its rapid and global growth, technological solutions to commonplace problems are becoming de rigeur. This is no different even in the education technology space. Many of the functions that a school management solution would take over our time and labor intensive. In these times of austerity, educational institutions like schools and colleges must look towards cutting overheads. A school management solution would be a method to cut these overheads - especially those that are process driven in nature like administrative functions.

A school management solution also helps improve the efficacy of a school's running. Since it is driven by technology, plenty of recurring functions are automated and run in an infallible fashion. The burden of human error is reduced in the execution of these functions. In a highly organized institution like a school, this is no longer just a perk, but a necessity. School management thus solutions helps schools run more cheaply and efficiently.

Factors to consider when selecting a School Management Solution

1 AFFORDABILITY

The primary thing that a school must consider when selecting a school management solution is affordability. Most schools run on tight budgets. Schools are also highly affected by budgetary constraints and funding cuts. They must be able to justify every expense they incur in the course of their day to day running. A school management solution is definitely an investment, so there must be some research done about the school's needs and requirements prior to purchase. After an assessment is made, the market must be researched to find an appropriate school management solution. The right school management solution, like Fedena, is a long-term investment that pays off over time. While it might seem like an expensive purchase initially the labour cost reduction and the time reduction it immediately affords makes it a worthwhile investment.

2 CUSTOMIZATION

When making an investment into a school management solution, it is important to find one that is just the right fit for your school. Every school has its own unique and varying needs that must be assessed and understood prior to purchasing a school management solution. The ideal school management solution must offer flexibility and adaptability. In this day and age, customization of school management solution is necessary to perfectly address the needs of the school it is serving. This means that this cannot be a rigid technology. Instead of a school management solution, like Fedena, that is open source, offers integrations with other platforms and tools, and offers an array of plugins that serve every need your school.

3 TRAINING

In addition to finding a good school management solution, it is important to teach users how to best use their new support system. This means that training must be an inextricable part of every school management solution - whether this is in person, through tutorials, or videos, or instructions. The training must consider how users understand and use their school management solution, meaning that it must understand its user first. A robust school management solution like Fedena offers guided training within the software itself, so users learn on the go.

4 AFTER SALES SUPPORT

A school management solution is not a one and done purchase. Instead, it is a dynamic piece of technology that must adapt to your growing and changing needs. The right school management solution helps even after purchase through comprehensive after-sales support. Whether it is understanding the use of a simple feature or building a plugin that caters to your school's specific needs, a school management solution like Fedena is with you every step of the way.

Whom does a school management solution benefit and how?

The right school management solution is comprehensively beneficial to the entire educational ecosystem. This means all the usual stakeholders of the educational ecosystem would find themselves advantaged by a school management solution. These stakeholders would include administrative staff or non-educational staff, management, teachers, students, and even parents. A school management solution is, therefore, an all-rounder.

Why Fedena is the right School Management Solution for you?

Fedena is a school management solution that is low-cost, easily customizable through the use of plugins and integrations, open source for adaptability, provides training on its ideal use, and also offers comprehensive after sales support to ensure that this is a solution that is with you every step of the way. Choose Fedena to experience robust and flawless school management solution at its best.